

MAGNATES DECIDE AGAINST RUSIE.

They Disregard His Plea, and Freedman's Course Is Upheld.

Stormy Meeting of the League Over a Board of Arbitration Question.

John T. Brush Leaves the Room in a Huff and May Be Disciplined.

PLAYING SEASON TO END ON OCT. 15.

Tebanu Case Not Discussed, and It Is Thought Has Been Smoothed Over—Von der Ahe Gets No Satisfaction—The First Deal Consummated.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Amos Rusie, whose conflict with President Freedman, of the New York Club, is well known to New Yorkers, will have to give up all hope of a settlement in his favor. The National League of Professional Baseball Clubs in session to-day, decided to disregard the plea of the crack pitcher of the "Giants" and uphold the discipline of the club.

This is a great victory for President Freedman, and settles, as least so far as the League is concerned, the release of players without the permission of the head of the team.

The League magnates did turn up a sensation to-day after all, and a good big one at that. It involves one of the most prominent managers of the League, and may lead to his being severely disciplined if present suspicions are proved correct.

At the Spring meeting of the League, held February 24 last, the magnates, as is their custom, went over the National agreement with care and made several changes of more or less consequence; that is, the amendments were offered, were considered, and then laid over until the Fall meeting, which is now in session, for final action.

Made the Magnates Blink.

When the minutes of the Spring meeting were taken up this afternoon by the full board all went well until the very end was reached. At the bottom of the minutes there appeared an amendment that caused the members to blink their eyes in amazement. It was in effect that the National Board of Arbitration, which consists of N. C. Young (ex-officio), A. H. Soden, of Boston, Charles H. Byrne, of Brooklyn, and John T. Brush, of Cincinnati, should be given full and complete power to change any part of the agreement as it might see fit by a unanimous vote.

No sooner had this amendment been read than Colonel John L. Rogers, of Philadelphia, jumped to his feet and declared that he had never heard of such a thing before. He was followed by two or three other biting rule being disregarded. This taken together with the fact that Brush is a member of the National Board of Arbitration, and the further fact that to-day's action, or rather lack of action, in failing to adopt the sweeping amendment, caused him to much uneasiness, are taken as good grounds for a suspicion that he knows more about the amendment than he cares to admit.

The Hoosier May Be Disciplined.

It is more than probable that this incident will precipitate another fight in tomorrow's session, the result of which will, it is believed, be the disciplining of Brush. If it can be shown that he alone was cognizant of the insertion of the amendment into the national agreement, the Brush affair was the only sensation of to-day's session.

The Board of Directors met at 10 o'clock, there being present President N. E. Young, of Washington; A. H. Soden, of Boston; Harry Von der Horst, of Baltimore; J. Earl Wagner, of Washington; J. H. Strucky, of Louisville; P. H. Auten, of Pittsburgh; James A. Hart, of Chicago, and Andrew Freedman, of New York.

One of the first acts of the board was the adoption of a motion to prolong the regular season until October 15, which will give the clubs fifteen days longer than heretofore to complete their schedule and finish up their postponed games. The amendments to the constitution adopted were as follows:

1. To change date of the meeting of the Board of Directors from the first Wednesday after the second Tuesday in November to the second Tuesday after the first Monday.

2. To annul the fine of from $25 to $50, imposed on umpires for not reporting offenses committed on the field.

3. To change the championship season from October 15 to October 1, to April 15 to October 15.

The board audited the accounts of the president and prepared the annual business to be presented to the League meeting.

The pennant was formally awarded to Baltimore.

The Cincinnati club asked the board to through the signals.

Captain Wrightington took his place among the backs during the signal exercise. This was the first time he has lined up since his injury nearly three weeks ago. Most of the Varsity men were again on the field, but did nothing in the way of playing, owing to slight injuries. The field was in poor condition, owing to a continuous drizzling.

Incidental to giving the men a rest, Harvard has determined to give more attention to the chief preparatory schools. The idea is to help in a general way the eleven of the Phillips, Andover and Phillips Exeter academies, and particularly to bring the best men to Harvard. With this purpose in view Norton, Shaw and Norman Cabot were sent to Exeter and Arthur Beale and Bourne went to Andover.

Halfback Sullivan is confined to his room with a slight attack of tonsillitis.

Coaches Flocking to New Haven.

New Haven, Nov. 11.—A steady, drizzling rain made the Yale football field wet and muddy this afternoon, but nevertheless the men were given the usual amount of work. Only a few of the Varsity played, the team which was put in against the scrub being composed mostly of substitutes.

Hine, a medical student, who has been playing on the scrub the entire Fall, was placed at full-back in the Varsity, and Chaucer was relegated to the second eleven. Hine did very well and his chances of becoming substitute full-back are considerably brightened.

Benjamin took an active part in the practice for the first time since he injured his shoulder in the game with Oberlin. He has almost recovered from the sprain, and expects no further trouble from it. Hinker is still confined to his room with the attack of tonsillitis.

The coaches are beginning to flock to New Haven. The arrival of Vance McCormick and Stillman added to the list this afternoon. Reacher is still here, and that Josh Hartwell has able assistance in coaching both the line and the backs.

Manager Garrison has thus far been unsuccessful in his search for a team to play here next Saturday. Numerous inquiries have been sent to colleges and athletic clubs, but all have declined, as they are arranged that they are unable to meet the Yale team.

No Loafers at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—There were no loafers on the Pennsylvania Varsity to-day. All got into the game early in practice. Wharton's knee and Wiley Woodruff's hip were again hurt and both put on casters and crutches.

Hodges started in, but received a touch on the ear so badly hurt in the Indian game, and was sent to the hospital.

Boyle was at his usual stand and came out of practice feeling much better for the exercise. "Ulfers" bruised leg bothered him, but he continued his good work.

Coches Woodruff called his men off the field. Weeks handled the slippery pigskin with few fumbles, tackled well, and bit his tongue nearly in two.

Tigers Play on a Slippery Field.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Varsity lined up against the scrub today and played a hard game of fifteen minutes. Rain fell heavily and the field was very wet and slippery, nevertheless but few fumbles were made, and two touchdowns were scored by the Varsity.

Baily and Cochran did not play, both were dressed and did a little signal practice. Baird was a little indisposed and took a day off. Conchider the condition of the field was very good. Geer played tackle on the scrub opposite Hildebrand, and put up a fine game.

The later played on the 88 eleven and won. The game was the special attention to Armstrong and Crowds.

The demand for tickets for the game with Yale on November 21 is so great that they are going to be very scarce and hard to get. J. J. Elliot, treasurer, and W. H. Andrew, manager of the association, both say that never before have they received so many applications for tickets, which means that every student who can possibly do so is going to New York on the 21st.

HARVARD SCHEMING FOR YOUNG PLAYERS.

She Sends Emissaries to Andover and Exeter to Corral the Best Men.

Bert Waters is Determined to Prevent Overtraining Among the Crimson.

COACHES FLOCKING TO NEW HAVEN.

Manager Garrison Unable to Arrange a Game for Yale Next Saturday—All of Pennsy's Men Get into the Practice at Philadelphia.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 11.—Bert Waters seems determined not to allow any of the Crimson eleven to be overtrained. Yesterday there was no line-up, but instead the backs were given practice in punting and place kicks, while the line tried their powers at breaking through. Afterward two elevens were picked, and they went to the field.
